November 2019

Vol: 5 Issue: 3

November Highlights!

While the month of November had a number of exciting events, two were most memorable. International Day was held on the 14th and involved presentations by the entire school. Parents were treated to songs, dances and interesting facts from a diverse number of countries including India, England, Greece, USA, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa and Kuwait just to name a few. In addition to the presentations to parents, students toured classrooms where they were able to taste some of the foods of the country while watching the class performances. To cap off the day, we were privileged to observe traditional music and dancing from Egypt arranged by Ms. Shaimaa, our KSS teacher. Last week students from KG to grade 7 had the good fortune to listen to Ms. Mo O'Hara, a writer who is part of Authors Abroad. Ms. O'Hara did a variety of presentations on her Zombie Goldfish series before engaging the grade 7 students in a drama in writing workshop. All in all, November has been a most memorable month here at CBS.

WRITING MATTERS

In the next two issues of the Express, you will see that many of our high school students are representing their thinking through graphic text. Using pictures to convey an idea was at some point just for primary students who did not have the knowledge to convey their thinking using printed word. It was also used in comics which some critics suggested was not 'real' reading and writing. However, with the insurgence and popularity of the graphic novel, teachers are incorporating this format and style into their repertoire of writing assignments.

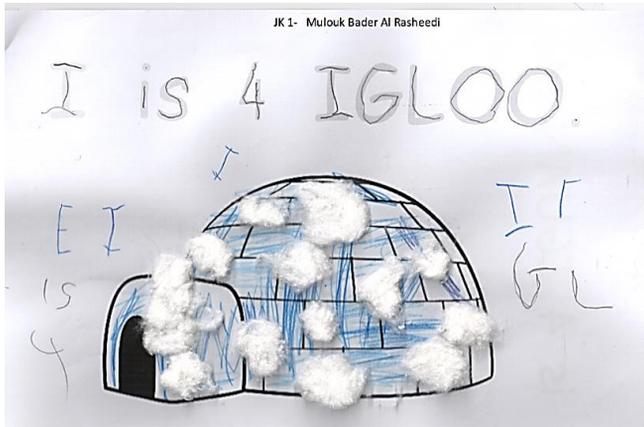

The very nature of a graphic text suggests that there will be little text in accompaniment. Like the adage, 'A picture is worth a thousand words' suggests, if the picture is done well, then words are often irrelevant. This is certainly the case when creating posters and collages. However, graphics can be of great use when reading complex text or text written in old English such as Shakespeare. Our grade 10 to 12 students spent time with Shakespeare this last quarter and the use of graphics has enabled them to add a missing scene or depict an existing one without the burden of using Shakespearean English.

As much as this genre and format has great potential for, and appeal to students, there is a flip side to using graphic text. Some students do not feel comfortable or confident in their artistic ability to competently convey their thinking. Thus students have been given the option of creating simpler art work, or finding existing drawings that are accompanied by more detailed writing. Drawing on students' strengths and providing options ensures that all students can meet the criteria of the assignment and best demonstrate their understanding.

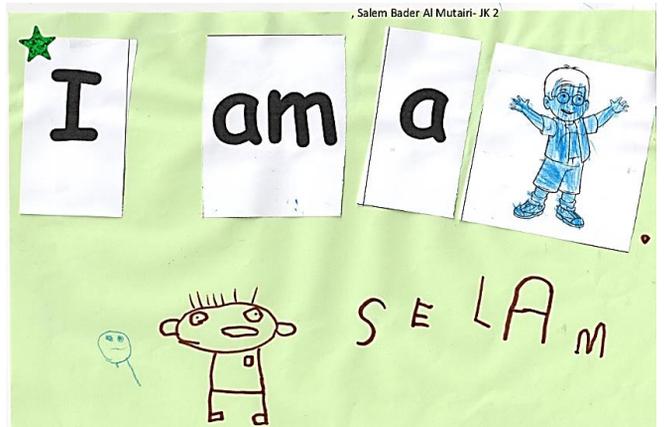

As always, we hope that you will enjoy the submissions in this month's Express. It is just one of the ways we are trying to celebrate the development and growth of both our writing program and our students' efforts here at CBS. Happy reading!!!

Write a letter to Ms. Mary, asking her to give you all a classroom pet.

October 22, 2019.

Dear Ms. Mary,

I think we all need a classroom pet. I believe that we will focus on our work. Moreover, the students will have a pet friend. Additionally, we will take care of the pet. Furthermore, the pet will be lucky because we will spend time with the pet. In addition, the students will NOT be absent and it's good for the students. I hope that you like our idea.

Sincerely,

Autobiography

My name is Alex Rayne and I was born on the 7th of July 1995. I live with my parents in Arizona, along with my two brothers. My brothers are Jacob and Brandon and my parents are named Jessica and Frank.

I found out I should be a fighter when I was in grade 6 and my brother pushed me and I punched him and he accidentally passed out. I then realized just how happy boxing made me. It got me into shape and turned out to be fun. I knew that boxing was a way to get me out of a dark space so I told myself from a young age I would never quit.

Since this was my new passion. I knew I could do it. One day before I turned professional, I was still in High school, a guy came up to me while I was punching a punching bag and asked me if I was open to join MMA fighting. I replied to him and told him that this is my dream come true. That guy is now my manager.

Three years ago I won the MMA-women's World Championship and we held a big celebration in my hometown with my whole family. I am a Japanese- American so in my culture we celebrate the day of commemorating the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War 2.

I am not just a "fighter". Other things I enjoy doing are painting and swimming. Some people might describe me as kind, creative, strong and introverted. I also enjoy being around people who inspire me. My favourite food is pizza and pasta. I can also speak many languages including English, Mandarin and Arabic. I dress very casually, mostly in sportswear, but I cannot always wear that.

My biggest accomplishment was when I had the privilege to tell my parents that I had joined the MMA. They were so surprised but also so proud that I found something that made me happy. What I learned is that if you're in a dark place in your life whether, you're in grade 6 or 26 all you need to do is what makes you happy. Boxing has made me change tremendously. It has made me smile and enjoy life.

The summers in Kuwait is always so hot.
 Is it sometimes snowy or even rainy. Never. I think not!

The boiling deserts here in Kuwait are gigantic.

Hamlet (A 1)

Zeina Ahmed Khamis - 11A

By: William Shakespeare

Scene 1:

The guards were outside the castle on their watch out shift. They see the ghost that looks like King Hamlet. Then Francisco says goodnight and leaves. Barnardo and Marcellus decided to seek help from Horatio. This event is important because we get to know the guards that appear in the first scene and will most likely be there throughout the book.

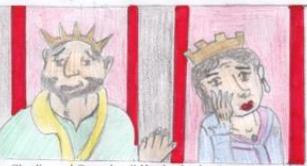

As soon as Francisco left, Horatio joins them. At first Horatio not believe in the ghost. The guards seek help from Barnardo because they know that he is an educated scholar. Soon, the ghost appears again and they tried to speak to him but there is no answer. This is important because we found out that Horatio finally believed in the ghost after he saw him in front of him and that they are going to inform prince Hamlet about what he saw.

Scene 2:

Claudius tells everyone that it is time for celebration and mourning. He also allowed Laertes to return to France to study. This is important because it tells us that Laertes is going to take his education out of Denmark which means he will not show up in most of the upcoming scenes.

Claudius and Gertrude tell Hamlet that he must get over his father's death. They tell him that everyone dies in the end and not only his father. Claudius tells him to stop being stubborn because it is not manly. This is important because it shows how his mother and uncle were trying to comfort him and get him over his depression.

Hamlet is sad about his father's death. He is also unhappy about his mother's marriage to his uncle. Later on in the scene, the guards and Horatio meet Hamlet and tell him about the ghost they saw who looked like his father. This event is important because it shows us the reason why Hamlet is depressed and suicidal. It also gives us a clue that Hamlet is going to find the ghost and speak to him.

Laertes warns his sister Ophelia about Hamlet and tells to stay away from him. Laertes gets ready to leave to France says goodbye to his father and sister then he gets aboard before the ship sails. This is important because shows us that Laertes is going to be gone for aw throughout the novel.

Polonius comes and speaks to Ophelia about Hamlet. He tells her to stay away from him and not believe his tenders of affection. He tells her to ignore him whenever he calls her. This event is important because we now know that Laertes and Polonius have a bad feeling about Hamlet and that is why they want Ophelia to be safe from him.

The guards, Horatio, and Hamlet meet on the platform at twelve. They were waiting for the ghost to show up. As they were waiting, Claudius was celebrating inside the castle where everyone was dancing and drinking. This event is important because it attracts the reader to continue reading and find out what will happen when they find the ghost.

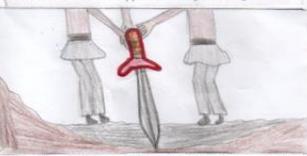

Suddenly, the spirit appears. Hamlet tries to speak to it but it beckons him to follow it. It has some secret to share with Hamlet alone. The guards and Horatio warned Hamlet not to follow it but Hamlet refused and went after it to find out what the secret was. Then the guards and Horatio follow Hamlet. This is important because now we know that the ghost has a massive secret that only Hamlet must hear and this secret will be that main problem in this novel.

Hamlet continues following the ghost. Then the ghost tells him to listen carefully before he returns back to flames. Firstly, he reveals that he is King Hamlet's spirit. This is important because we know that Hamlet is going to find out something important about his father from his father's spirit.

The ghost tells Hamlet that a serpent bit him while he slept in his orchard was a lie that was spread to all of Denmark. He tells him the big secret which is that his evil uncle came upon his father when he was sleeping and poured poison in his ear which spread quickly and killed him. Then the ghost disappeared. This is an important event because Hamlet found out that it was his evil uncle who killed his father and now he wants to get revenge on his uncle who robbed his father's life, wife, and crown all at once.

The guards and Horatio caught up with Hamlet as soon as the ghost disappears. They ask him what happened but he refused to tell them. He asked them to swear by his sword not to reveal what they saw that night. Horatio and the guards swore not to tell anyone about this. This event is important because it shows that Hamlet has a friend that he could trust and have this secret between them and the guards.

Sarah Hussien Al Mutairy- 11A

Two Guards Barnardo and Marcellus saw a ghost that looks like Hamlet's dead father. But the ghost didn't speak to them and disappears.

1. →

Horatio tells the guards that Fortinbras the King of Norway is preparing to attack Denmark. So he will get the revenge of his father's death by Hamlet.

2. →

Hamlet can't allow to hide his feelings. Also now his angry about his mother's quick remarriage to his uncle.

3. →

After King's death, Claudius married to his mother Gertrude. Hamlet is not happy about what going on, about all of this that he thinks it's wrong.

4. →

5. →

6. →

After that Laertes returns to France before he left he said good bys to every one. Then he saw his father's Polonius who gives him bunch of advices before he goes to France so much.

7. →

8. →

Laertes encourages his sister Ophelia to stay away from Hamlet. But Ophelia loves Hamlet. She does not want to leave him.

9. →

At the end Hamlet tells his friends not to tell anyone what they saw and that he might act strange but not to worry about it.

Also Ophelia's father who loves to talk gives Samvel advices to Ophelia to stay away from Hamlet. But Ophelia thought that Hamlet was the same intruding for her.

After that Hamlet's father's ghost returns back. Then he tells Hamlet that Claudius killed him which he should kill Claudius to get his father's revenge.

Sarah Al-Mutairy

This Scene is quite short as it just talks about the King's Festival and Hamlet trying to talk to the ghost alongside Marcellus, Horatio, and Bernardo. I have decided to include both parts because they also show 2 different sides of a situation. For instance, the King is drawn to look like he is behind a curtain & is drinking/celebrating which is important because it proves the fact that he does not know of the ghost. On the opposite end are the 4 boys who are struggling to find out the reason behind the apparition's appearance.

In Scene 5, many things happened, which is why I decided on dividing it up into 3 boxes. Firstly, the ghost privately talks to Hamlet about his father's death & that it wasn't an accident but instead carried out by his uncle. This is essential because it shows not only that the late king was murdered but also that he was murdered by his brother. Plus, the ghost confirms that he is in fact the spirit of Hamlet's father and shows how the watchguards are for Hamlet by holding him back.

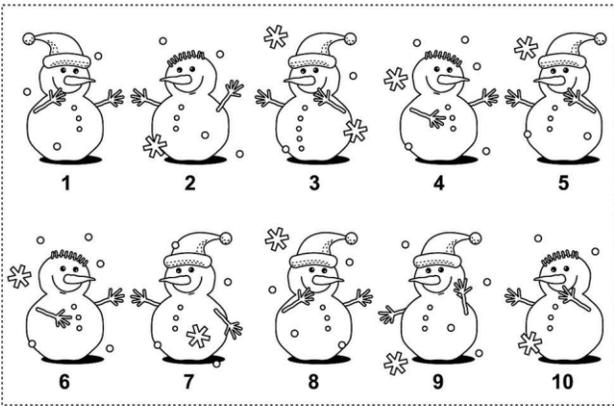

After the ghost announces the murderer, he tells Hamlet how the murder happened which was by sneaking up on King Hamlet as he had his daily nap in the orchard. Claudius found this as the perfect opportunity to pour Hebenon poison in his ear which eventually killed him. This is critical because it shows how the late king was murdered and also shows what kind of a person Claudius is. From this, we can infer he is a coward because he unfairly killed his brother rather than a battle.

After Horatio & Marcellus catch up with Hamlet, they ask him of what the ghost said but Hamlet stayed quiet. Instead, he repeatedly asked them to swear upon his sword that they would not speak of that night. I think this is crucial because it shows the beginning of Hamlet's madness since he spoke "whirling words" and constantly yelled at the two to swear, even when they already did. This is also dramatic irony because in the next acts, the King & Queen don't understand the reason behind Hamlet's
